

Armada 1 Auto-Assimilator

The Auto-Assimilator of the game Star Trek: Armada drains the target ship of it's crew, by adding it to the inflicting ship. The attacking ship will at the same time continue to fire onto that ship, unless ordered to attack another one of set to green alert. The Auto-Assimilator will continue to drain crew even when the casting ship's crew is full. It will only stop if the weapons is turned off or the crew of the target ship runs out. It is researched at the Modification Center. The Auto-Assimilator looks like this:

The Auto-Assimilator can be used up to 25 seconds. It will take 5 crew per second from the targeted ship, so the energy-crew-conversion is 8:1.

An active Corbomite Reflector has no effect on this special weapon. Neither does the Shield Remodulation. An active Phase Cloak, however does prevent from using it.

There is a sound bug in Star Trek: Armada that let's the noise of the Auto-Assimilator continue indefinitely. In order to get rid of that sound simply open the main menu for a moment, and return to the match. It will be gone.
